San Joaquin County and Sacramento County are working together to replace the Walnut Grove Road (Millers Ferry) Bridge at the Mokelumne River crossing along the County line. This meeting will inform the public and stakeholders of the project's current status, including the need for replacement, details about the design, anticipated cost and funding source, environmental planning process, proposed detour during construction, anticipated construction start date and next steps in the project timeline. A Question-and-Answer session will follow the presentation to address questions from the public.

Project Benefits:

- Replace a deteriorating 70-year-old bridge to enhance safety and meet current design standards.
- Reduce high maintenance costs for long-term economic benefits.
- Improve resiliency against flood risks during major storms.
