

OFFICES UP FOR ELECTION GUBERNATORIAL PRIMARY

FEDERAL VOTER-NOMINATED OFFICES

Every candidate must be at least 25 years of age, a U.S. citizen for seven years, and a resident of California on the date he or she would be sworn into office if elected. A sworn statement is required to confirm that the candidate meets the documentation requirements specified by state law when nomination papers are filed. There are no district residency requirements for Members of Congress.

US Constitution, Article I, §2

The top two vote-getters from the primary election will advance to the general election for the voter-nominated office, even if both candidates have specified the same party preference designation.

STATE VOTER-NOMINATED OFFICES

Every candidate must be a U.S. citizen, a registered voter, and otherwise qualified to vote for the office at the time nomination papers are issued. A candidate may not have been convicted of a felony involving bribery, embezzlement, extortion or theft of public funds, perjury, or conspiracy to commit any of those offenses. Candidates for the Legislature must also have been residents of California for at least three years, and residents of the legislative district for at least one year, immediately preceding the election. The top two vote-getters from the primary election will advance to the general election for the voter-nominated office, even if both candidates have specified the same party preference designation.

Legislative candidates are subject to California's term-limit provisions:

- For individuals first elected to the Legislature on or after June 5, 2012, lifetime service in the Assembly, the State Senate, or any combination of the two is limited to a total of 12 years.
- For individuals first elected before June 5, 2012, the prior limits established by Proposition 140 apply: a maximum of three two-year terms in the Assembly and two four-year terms in the State Senate, with partial-term service counted according to the rules in effect under Proposition 140.
