Occupation: Commissioner/Businesswoman/Social Worker

Age: 43

Extraordinary times call for extraordinary solutions. COVID-19 has impacted each and every one of us in ways we could not imagine. We need steady leadership and fresh ideas to help guide Stockton through the Pandemic and towards recovery.

As a lifelong Stockton resident, Planning Commissioner, social justice advocate, and member of the Weston Ranch Community Association, I'm deeply dedicated to our community. As a member of the Planning Commission, I have a comprehensive understanding of local government. Serving as chair of the Planning Commission, I was able to tackle hard issues, execute innovative ideas, and reach out to those most often excluded or marginalized. As a business owner, I understand the importance of local small businesses, the lifeblood of our community.

I am committed to open and respectful communication, ensuring that everyone has a place at the table and a voice in the process. I'm proud to be recognized as an effective leader in advancing social and economic justice.

I pledge to advocate for Stockton families with courage and commitment, fight for small local businesses, thoughtfully and inclusively address the complex issues around mental health and homelessness.

I would be honored to serve you on City Council. Together we can build Stockton for years to come.
