Occupation: Construction Manager

My education and qualifications are:

I'm running for City Council because I believe in Tracy's potential.

Having grown up in Tracy, as the son of a former field worker, I could have either been another statistic or work hard to achieve success. I focused on school and worked as a carpenter while earning a Bachelor's degree from CSUEB. While working as a Congressional Staffer helping veterans and seniors, I decided to further serve our community.

As a Construction Manager and Congressional Staffer, I've dedicated myself to improving Tracy, but there is work to do.

It's time for government oversight and accountability. I will treat others with respect and not give up because something is inconvenient.

It's time to support safer communities by funding efficient fire, medical, and safety services. As I lost my healthy father to Covid-19, yet I recovered from the virus, I understand how we prepare and respond to urgent situations can save or ruin lives.

It's time to address our deficit in apprenticeships and vocational education for local, high-paying tech and manufacturing jobs. I will make this a priority so young people have opportunities here.

With your vote, we can make it happen.
