

In response to the evolving COVID-19 situation, we at the San Joaquin County Agricultural Commissioner's Office have altered our workplace in order to maintain our duties while protecting public health and the health of our employees. We have reduced the number of staff physically in the office and are maintaining social distancing requirements. Our office will continue to provide essential services such as Phytosanitary certifications, Restricted Materials Permit Issuance, Notice of Intent reviews and Certified Farmers Market inspections etc.

Our satellite offices in Lodi and Ripon will be closed as of Monday, March 23, 2020, until further notice. Essential services can be obtained by calling (209) 953-6000 or by emailing your request to stocktonag2@sjgov.org.

At this time, the Stockton location of the Agricultural Commissioner's Office located at 2101 E. Earhart Ave., Stockton, CA 95206, will remain open Monday through Friday during normal business hours. Depending upon the availability of Department resources, to the extent that an essential service cannot be obtained via telephone, email or by visiting our Stockton location, an appointment may be scheduled.

Regards,

A handwritten signature in blue ink, appearing to read "Tim Pelican".

Tim Pelican
San Joaquin County Agricultural Commissioner/Sealer